Applications are invited for the following full-time position in the Saw Swee Hock School of Public Health:

POST-DOCTORAL FELLOW POSITION IN THE CENTRE FOR INFECTIOUS DISEASE EPIDEMIOLOGY AND RESEARCH (CIDER)

The Centre for Infectious Disease Epidemiology and Research (CIDER) in the Saw Swee Hock School of Public Health is looking for a full time Post-doctoral Fellow. The main focus of research will be in developing biosurveillance systems to detect and predict infectious disease outbreaks.

The candidate is required to perform data collection, analysis, computational tasks as well as coordination and management of projects.

Qualifications:

PhD in Epidemiology or Public Health, preferably with at least 2 years of working experience in infectious disease research. Publications in peer-reviewed journals is highly desirable.

Job Description:

Specific tasks and responsibilities include the following:

1. Conduct data analysis on the data collected using STATA/SPSS/R and prepare weekly/monthly report
2. Manage specific project deliverables/task assigned for biosurveillance system development by CIDER Director
3. To propose and design new relevant studies and provide support to grant writing

Job specifications

- High level of enthusiasm for learning
- Strong passion in infectious diseases and public health
- Proactive and have good organizational skills
- Ability to work independently and at the same time, willing to share knowledge and collaborate with others

Interested applicants should send the following documents by email to Ms Chua Hui Lan at ephchl@nus.edu.sg by 31 May 2017:

a. Cover letter highlighting career goals and relevant experience
b. Curriculum Vitae
c. Names and contact information of at least two referees
d. A completed NUS Personal Data Consent for Job Applicants (form is available at NUS Personal Data Consent for Job Applicants)
e. Any other supporting documents

We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be contacted.